A New Year

In unity and solidarity, let's continue the great work of Masonry, exemplify the principles we so heartily endorse, and do our utmost to promote the growth of our order in numbers and caliber, so it exerts its influence long after our own years on earth have ceased. Make it be true that Masonry "has grown in the years fulfilling the highest hopes and inspirations of its early Brothers." Let us do our work in the new Masonic Year to "stand the test of time." We need builders not joiners; crewmen not passengers; and the program of the Lodge should be so arranged that all Brothers are attracted to our meetings and given a chance to actively participate in and push forward our real objectives. We need the skill of them all; but do not expect perfection in a man just because he is a Mason. If you do, you will be disappointed.

Masonry makes men better, but no human agency makes them perfect. If he is a Mason, you have a right to presume he is a fairly good man, but do not condemn the Institution, even if a few Masons turn out bad. Even the great Teacher himself had a Judas. Our aim and purpose is to receive good men, keep them good and make them better. Judge the Order not by a few failures but by the average of its successes.

The average is high and gives standards to its members, but it cannot be an infallible guide. Each of us must be a working and acting instrument within our society of Brothers, which will enable us so to live, that men might better understand who we are and whom we serve.

Masonry can form us into a stronghold and landmark for goodness and nobility in the middle of evil, and enlighten us to show the way out of darkness. It can and does serve as a peaceful pacemaker in the midst of turbulence, a magnetic force influencing mankind by its pure principles.

In our profession as Masons we must have the boldness to speak and act as such. It should be so obvious from the things we say and do, that we have been inspired "with the symbolic purity and perfection of our institution." Our responsiveness to these noble gifts should be with humble gratitude, but also a willingness to achieve perfection in our weakness and to regulate our lives accordingly. Paraphrasing Brother Goethe: "Only he deserves his Freedom, his Life, and his Light, who daily earns it anew." Truly, only in this manner may we grow in knowledge, faith and contemplation; in understanding and experience; in hope and charity; in brotherly love, and in the boundless joy of eternal salvation through Light in Masonry.

From a speech by Dr. Hugo Thomas, Pyramid Lodge No. 869, Vilseck, Germany, 1978.

"Be always at war with your vices, at peace with your neighbors, and let each New Year find you a better man."

- Brother Benjamin Franklin
